Introduction by Phil and Bob

1.05 pm

Beth McGuiver tells the legend of an Irish giant called Finn McCool and his lasting monument that is still with us today.

1.20 pm

Phil Coogan's tale Snake Snots sees a beautiful woman evade an evil baron using shape-shifting and, yes, snake snots.

1.40 pm

Carol Ritson's story tells how a green-skinned hag in the River Tees came to inspire a children's game in Derbyshire.

1.45 pm

We'll hear another exciting tale from Beth McGuiver, one that is guaranteed to make a chill run down your spine.

1.55 pm

Has Daniel really just seen carboniferous period giant insects here in Sheffield? Melissa Worthington lets us in on his story,

2.15 pm

Lewis Carroll's classic nonsense poem Jabberwocky is brought all too dramatically to life by Phil Warhurst.

2.20 pm
